

Take three daughters, one mom and put them in any store in any mall in the U.S. Surrounded by shirts plastered with messages like, “look but don’t touch” “future hottie”, “spoiled rotten”, this mom said enough!

Time for a change. Time to create a t-shirt line worthy of the girls (and moms) who wore them. Enter the Tiny Little T-Shirt Co.

The company has a simple mission: create t-shirts that Moms would be happy to buy for themselves and their girls, and that the girls would feel good wearing.

This basic concept has developed into a growing apparel brand with art that is applicable to a broad range of categories, including:

- Tote Bags
- Gift Items
- Stationery
- Beach Chairs and Umbrellas
- Beach Towels
- Mugs
- Magnets
